Boy Scouts Sell Christmas Trees At Wolter's Market

It's a real seasonal sign when the Boy Scouts of Troop 140 set up their trees in front of Wolter's, as they did last Tuesday. So successful has this annual fund-raising activity become that the boys have a hard time keeping up with the orders, according to leader Frank Preve.

Each year they order 200 additional trees, trying to keep pace with the prior year's sales, but each year they have to re-order. This year they are starting with 800 trees (last year's sales total), whereas last year they started with 600. They had started with 400 the previous year, but finally sold 600--and so on!

Laid end to end, the trees included in this year's preliminary order would reach more than one mile along Carmel Valley Road!

Douglas Fir and other varieties will be sold for 60¢ per foot.

FINANCE TRIP

The boys use the proceeds to finance their annual trip. Last year they went to the Seattle World's Fair, the previous year to Yosemite, etc.

The special scout recipe for keeping Christmas trees fresh (and more fire resistant) was so successful that some customers reported the tips of their trees turned fresh green and actually began to grow again! Here is the recipe (sounds strange, works wonders, report the scouts):

Saw of an inch or so of the base of the tree you buy so that fresh wood is exposed. (The original cut will already have "healed over"). Immerse tree in a solution of 1 heaping tablespoon of sugar to 1 quart of water. Keep in solution for at least several days, until ready to decorate--or throughout the holidays, if you can arrange a holder which will make this possible.

CV ROAD MEETING SCHEDULED FOR NEXT THURSDAY, DEC. 13

Special invitations to a meeting set for Thursday, Dec. 13, at 8:00 p. m. in the Community Center will be mailed to the 79 people who indicated, on the questionnaires circulated last August by the Valley's two largest property owners groups, that they would like to serve on a Committee for Carmel Valley Road. Senator Fred Farr, whose interest in scenic highways is well-known, has also been invited.

Special invitations to a meeting set for Thursday, Dec. 13, at 8:00 p. m. in the Community Center will be mailed to the 79 people who indicated, on the questionnaires circulated last August by the Valley's two largest property owners groups, that they would like to serve on a Committee for Carmel Valley Road. Senator Fred Farr, whose interest in scenic highways is well-known, has also been invited.

All other interested property owners are more than welcome to attend in addition, the interim Road Committee (Nancy Strathmeyer and Clayton Neill, Jr., representing CVPOA and Del Neel and Al Kappadahl, representing M-CVPOA) announced early this week.

PLANNER

Previously, a meeting to be addressed by Elton Andrews, director of the State Division of Planning, was tentatively scheduled for Dec. 21. Although Andrews was willing to confirm the date, an unofficial survey on the part of the interim committee convinced its members that Valleyites love Christmas tradition even more than Carmel Valley Rd. and would bow out in droves if asked to attend a meeting that near the holiday.

Andrews agreed to set a date early in January (to be announced soon) but the Committee felt that this was getting too close to the January 29 hearing at the County Planning Commission at which the planlines for the widening of Carmel Valley Rd. will be considered. The County has already postponed the hearing twice at the request of Valley property owners for more time.

COMMITTEE

Thus the meeting for next Thursday is being called in order that a permanent road committee can be set up, officers elected, committees appointed, etc., so that all may be in readiness for action when the consultation with Andrews is finally consumated.

"What we seek," said a spokesman for the committee (Ed. note: in these troublous times, we hesitate to put any one person on the spot by quoting them directly), "is to complete the master plan for Carmel Valley by making our decisions about the road, and its problems, as we did about the zoning and the schools not so long ago." The spokesman pointed out that the earlier decisions were fraught with controversy, general agony, and dire predictions, "yet those who most opposed the decisions made at those times are the most satisfied, now, with the results."

The questionnaire circulated by the CVPOA and M-CVPOA showed 80% of Valley residents solidly against the widening of Carmel Valley Road to 4 lanes as currently proposed by the County. One proposed alternative suggested so far is the construction of over-the-hill routes (at Valley Hills and/or Farm Center, for example) paralleling the Los Laureles grade, to channel Monterey-bound traffic from the Valley floor. Another suggestion, by area planners Donald Goodhue and Gordon Hall, was the construction of an additional 2-lane roadway which would carefully preserve insofar as possible all natural scenic features. Coupled with the existing road, two 2-lane passages through the Valley floor would exist, each one-way. The advantages and disadvantages of suggested alternatives should be explored, the interim committeemen say, along with financial implications. Still further suggestions will be welcomed.

COMMUNITY CENTER ASKS NOTIFICATION

Any community organization wishing to schedule meetings at the Community Center building is welcome to do so, but members of the Board of Directors earnestly urge that clearance first be obtained. All prospective users of the building should clear with Mrs. Robert Stuart, calendar chairman, by calling OL 9-2170.

Because the building is used by so many different groups, a few organizations which have failed to obtain clearance have found themselves "sharing" the building with other groups, reports a spokesman for the board, and the results were "a little bit too much togetherness." Inconvenience and embarrassment can be avoided along with further such "double-headers" by contacting Mrs. Stuart.

Variance Requested

Mrs. Florence Anderson of Wagon Wheel Picnic Grounds in Cachagua has an application before the Board of Zoning Adjustment for a variance to permit her to take care of six children on her own property. Hearing will be December 11 at 10:45 a. m.

EDITORIAL

Irate residents frequently drop into our office and deliver themselves of "beefs" against one thing or another. We've been asked to start all sorts of crusades, but the "irates" are, 10 times out of 10, "too busy to get involved" themselves. THEY don't want to be quoted.

The mad, mad mama this morning was no exception, but in this case we'll take up the cudgels for her. She was exercised about private parties on Saturday nights following the Youth Center dances, which end at 11:00 p. m. At these later functions, drunken teen-agers are said to abound, often have to be sent home by baffled host-parents.

This was not the first time we had heard such rumors. Within the past week there has been talk about two such parties--one in the upper Valley, one in the lower, both cases where well-known and respected residents felt it necessary to ask teen-agers to leave their homes because the youngsters were "swacked".

In the most recent case, the youngsters involved were not high-schoolers but JUNIOR high schoolers. (We hate to identify the age groups by mentioning schools, lest some irate parent decide to blame the school board! Remember, these incidents occur--and it seems they DO occur--on Saturday evenings!)

Spurred by the angry visiting mama, we called Reg Bennett, director of the CV Youth Center, and relayed the accusations.

"Of course it's true," he confirmed. "I know darned well it's true. I'm happy to say that since becoming Youth Center director, I've been able to control the drinking there 100%. We just don't allow any. One sign of it, and out they go! But what happens afterwards? We have NO control. If the parents want their kids to have parties until well after midnight, there's nothing I can do about it. If the kids get liquor at these parties, there's nothing I can do about it."

Where do the youngsters get the liquor? Reg says they tell him that addicted adults will buy a bottle for them in exchange for part of its contents.

At last Saturday night's fracas, our angry mama said she watched from her car, outside the home where she was delivering her daughter, while youngsters gaily mixed bourbon and beer (a combination which our generation knew as "boilermakers" and "depth charges.")

As parents, few of us can pretend that we do not drink. We have heard a number of comments lately to the effect that the "speeded up pace" which seems to be creeping even into our pastoral vale, demands not one, but two or three nightly pre-dinner "relaxers".

We are not saying that parents should cease to drink in order to set better examples. We'd be hooted off the Peninsula--and, anyway, we enjoy our own nip too much!

We are saying it is not only a question of "how much?" but "how soon?"

Reg says he has tried meeting with the parents to discuss the problems of teen-age drinking.

"No parent will admit HIS child does it. I can name four kids who are instigators--but it wouldn't do any good to put it like that to the parents. Even if a parent is confronted with the unmistakable fact that his 16-year old is drunk, he thinks the kid must have been dragged into it by some other youngster who is REALLY bad.

"If I could do anything about what goes on AFTER the Youth Center parties, I surely would. But I would need the parents' help. I've tried, and I haven't had it."

Why do the kids confide in someone like Reg concerning their drinking, how they procure the liquor, etc.? Anyone who knows young people can surmise that they are almost literally asking for more attention, more control, more guidance. Deep down, they know enough to be worried about the merry-go-round on which they are embarking so soon.

We do hope hordes of irate subscribers will have something to say about this situation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

...Due to the fine publicity and the patronage of our many Valley residents, donations, etc., our Christmas Bazaar last Saturday was a huge success.

Our special thanks to the Outlook, the Oleander Garden Shop, McCaman's Village Market, Eleanor Welborn, Bennett's Carmel Valley Market, Valley Hills Nursery, and Monterey Pottery.

The kindness and generosity of all concerned in indeed gratefully appreciated.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Joyce Quinto,
Secretary,

Women's Auxiliary

(Ed. Note: Just in case any of our readers missed reading or hearing about the recent fire which destroyed a home in Robles Del Rio--the following letter was written by the mother of the dispossessed family.)

TO ALL WHO MAY READ THE OUTLOOK:

The Thompson family wish to express their gratitude to all in the Carmel Valley who were so kind, generous, and thoughtful. We were helped by our Churches, our Fire Department and all our fine neighbors, even people in Monterey, Salinas, Pacific Grove, and others too numerous to mention by name. By this means may they know that we accept their many gifts with humble pride and heartfelt gratitude.

With Grace and God's many blessings, thank you again

Valleyites Regret Grant Fletcher's Deparure for Stanford Position

Valley residents who have worked with Dr. Grant Fletcher on the various civic groups with which he has been associated this week expressed regret that the Valley is losing a valuable citizen. They also expressed some pleasure that one of the Peninsula's leading physicians should have attained a position at his alma mater, Stanford University --combining teaching and research activities, and very much in line with his talents and interests.

Mrs. Barbara Sherman, who worked with Dr. Fletcher on the C.V. Property Owners Association (of which he is a past president) said, "I can't quite realize that we are losing Grant and his fine family. We have been fortunate to have had his contribution--medical, educational, and personal! Palo Alto's gain is surely our loss."

"A great guy, one of the best family men I know," said Paul Porter, who has shared many outdoor recreational activities with the Fletchers. "They have reared their family in a wonderful way, I think--and he's still found time to do so much for the community."

"You should have seen the faces fall when he announced his resignation," said Bonnie Holbrook, who covers School Board meetings for the OUTLOOK. "His aim has been to get the most education possible for the WHOLE district for the least number of taxpayer dollars--and so far as I'm concerned, he's succeeded!"

Clayton Neill, Jr., Valley resident who serves with Dr. Fletcher as a fellow-trustee of the school board, said, "His ability to get to the heart of a lot of these matters has resulted in a lot of necessary decisions being made and jobs getting done. He's so objective, his opinions formed so unemotionally, that it was inevitable he would receive some criticism--but we have very much needed someone of his great intelligence and ability."

Now 40 years of age, Dr. Fletcher was elected to the school board in 1958. His B.A. and M.D. degrees are from Stanford, and his M.S. in anesthesiology from the University of Minnesota.

GARDEN CLUB PARTY

Installation of new officers for the Carmel Valley Garden Association will be held Friday December 7 at the annual Christmas party. Members will gather at 6:00 p. m. at the Community Center for a turkey-potluck dinner and an evening of fun. Those planning to attend are reminded to bring their table service, a gift-wrapped hard cover book, a gift-wrapped white elephant, a nice plant, and their contribution to the dinner.

WHAT BECOMES OF WHITE OAKS ALUMS?

Valley visitors last week were Judy and Wayne King with daughter Danielle. The Kings designed sets last summer at White Oaks Theatre, are now vacationing in Los Angeles between productions at San Francisco's Sheraton Palace, where Wayne designed sets for "Pajama Game" and "Music Man"..... Another member of the White Oaks "family", Mark Dempsey, who so recently starred in G. E. Theatre's production "Last Day" has now been signed to a five-year movie contract with Warner Bros. Valleyites who follow Mark's career with interest will be delighted with this news!.... Pat Hawkings, who will be remembered as a member of the local theatre's production staff, is currently with an independent producer on location in Mexico, with a working trip to Europe planned in the near future.

(1) A purple mailbox (it's Mildred and Mark Hattan's).
(2) A house "start" which has people asking how a "small subdivision" could have gone through the Planning Commission without anybody hearing about it. Located west of Boronda Rd., the home just starting construction will occupy approximately 6000 square feet of a seven acre site. It will be the residence of Mrs. Charlotte Cruickshank of Pebble Beach and is just east of the residence she has maintained as a guest house in the Valley for some time. Designed by Millard Sheets of Los Angeles, the new home will be constructed partly of cast stone (with unusual mosaic effects) and partly of frame-stucco. Daniels and House are the contractors.
(3) A stable with a chimney, just east of item (2).
(4) "Baby Dear One", a very special doll with highchair, crib, and wonderful wardrobe, on display at The Grapevine". This 3-year old sized armful is being given away for Christmas by the CV Volunteer Fire Department to benefit Children's House. Tickets, only 25¢, are available at The Grapevine, the Firehouse, or the Trading Post.
(5) A Poodle in charge of the Postoffice. Smokey, shown at right, really is, as all P.O. habituees well know. His Master and Mistress have a thing or two to say, however. (see article at right).

HERE'S HELPFUL HINTS FROM OUR SMILING POSTAL PERSONNEL

((PLUS POODLE))

Valleyites often comment on the friendliness of the atmosphere in the CV postoffice and the helpfulness of the seven people (and one poodle) who serve therein.

How can Valleyites help them during the arduous weeks they will soon undergo?

"The rush always starts on the first Monday in December," said postmistress Judi Brandt as she accepted a large package with one hand and slid forth a 100-stamp sheet of red and green Christmas commemoratives with the other.

"The rush gets a little bigger each year," she went on, "so that the old advice to mail early and tie packages securely is the best we can give." Here's a list of helpful hints:

1. If you want to be sure your packages reach the East coast, mail by the 12th and tie them securely. (If you do not know how to avoid a "granny" knot, ask a boy scout to show you while buying your Christmas tree at Wolter's!)

2. Whenever possible hand your packages over the counter, face up--don't shove them in the mail slots. The mail will move much faster from CV if you heed this one!

3. Divide your Christmas cards into face-up stacks, separating local and out-of-town. Put a rubber-band around each stack. Label the stack "local" or "out of town"--the PO will HAPPILY provide the labels.

Think how long it would take you to gather up hundreds of envelopes dropped into a helter-skelter pile (at the other end of a mail slot), and to turn them all face up--before you could even start to sort them! Mail received in stacks ready for cancelling is naturally handled first; the postal employees may not get to the hodge-podged piles until many hours later.

4. Overseas mail should always be weighed at the Postoffice--this is Judi's final suggestion. The fees go up by half-ounces, and it is all too easy to misjudge.

HOURS

The postoffice will be open until 5:00 p.m. on the last two Saturday afternoons before Christmas--for the hapless stragglers. Weekday hours will remain the same, says postmaster Sam Brandt.

KIWANIS CLUB INSTALLS 1963 OFFICERS

New officers of the Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club were installed at the annual dinner held last Saturday at Los Laureles Lodge. Attended by fifty persons, including members and their wives, the meeting was keynoted by the District Lt. Governor, Herbert Rothstein of Salinas, and was emceed by Herb Brownell, who presided with imperturbable determination despite the handicap of damaged spectacles.

In succeeding to the president's post after serving as vice president and as acting president during the late Jerry Kelley's illness, Lou Gardner said of the latter, "He was a good guy. When you say that of someone, and mean it as much as we do--all of us--it leaves very little else to say. We will all miss him."

The new vice president is Tom Hefling. Other officers for the coming year include Pete Naugle and Joe Ricupero, who continue as secretary and treasurer, respectively, and Herb Brownell and Herman Tedrow as new board members.

In reviewing the accomplishments of the past year, Gardner noted that despite its limited area, the Valley chapter with a present total of 35 members is among the largest of the 15 clubs in its district, and that 12 new members were added during the year.

Tribute in the form of corsages was paid to Mesdames Gardner, Hefling, Rothstein, Ricupero, Naugle, Brownell; and also to the daughter-in-law of member Buck Raymond, Mrs. Paul Raymond, for her willing services in printing the Club's weekly bulletin.

At the usual luncheon meeting on Tuesday, the speaker was Gilbert La Freniere, assistant curator of the P.G. Museum of Natural History, who illustrated his talk on the geology of the region with many striking color slides taken along the Big Sur coast and in the Santa Lucia mountains. Scheduled speaker for next week is member By Ford, who will describe some of the very early real estate development of the Valley.

KENNEL CLUB HOLDS WINTER SHOW

Approximately 1500 dog fanciers attended the Del Monte Kennel Club's first Winter Show and Obedience Trials; there were 607 exhibitors.

First place in the Toy Poodle division was won by "Cakewalk" of Challendon Kennels of Carmel Valley's El Robledo Ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stevenson are the owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Derek Rayne's Pembroke Corgi, Ch. "Rover Run Minstrel Man," won first place in the Working Group.

Mrs. Gene Cornelius was the judge in the obedience trials.

Roosting at the rail at Reuben's last Saturday night, and minding my own business, I confess to being startled when in walked Anne Egli who began preening and careening about the room, showing off her new clothes from Joanne's. Then, a little later this performance was repeated by Dorothy Holley. Well, all that exhibitionism was too much for me...I mean, I'm pretty proud of my feathers too, but I just can't compete with fashions from Joanne's. So I scooted down to Will's Fargo only to find this same business going on, this time with different Joanne designs. Well, you know me, my feathers get ruffled if I don't know everything, and, being an ace newshawk or chicken, I always get to the bottom of things even if I have to scratch for it. It develops that this is the latest thing, impromptu fashion modeling, (we always have the latest in the Valley,) and Joanne plans to make this a regular thing, every Saturday night.

It isn't as if she were putting all her eggs in one basket, either. This sort of thing is going on even at lunch--Isabella Higgins has invited the duo of lovelies to slither through her new Coffee Shop this coming Saturday, from 1:00 to 2:00. Isabella's no stranger to fashion shows--she used to stage them at the Claremont Hotel in Oakland, before she decided she preferred a more rural coop.

It isn't just the hens either... Last Sunday evening found some 80 of the Valley's finest roosters gathered at Carmel Valley Inn for one of the most unusual fashion shows of all time, "Roosters' Night," presented by Berg's Smart Fashions. Rousing rooster crows greeted the performances of Tom Oliver wearing baby doll bikini nightwear and Tom Crampton wearing a Carmen Miranda kind of costume. All of the clothing worn by Tom Oliver was given away as door prizes. Winners of clothing for their wives were: Reuben Hampton, the above mentioned bikini; Ben Viljoen, a Cleopatra Baby Doll; Bob Stewart, a mohair sweater; Bill Pringle, a hat; and Dr. Jack Galloway, a grey pleated skirt. Other door prizes such as bourbon, champagne, and beer will never reach the wives anyway so we won't even mention them. I was a little surprised to see Tom Mayo doing an impersonation of me, but he did it very well in a fairly handsome copy of my costume designed by Barbara Blevens.

More serious models also appeared and the roosters pronounced all this such a success that they demand that Mr. Berg make it an annual event. Some said that twice a year would be even better, suggesting a "Bunny Night" just before Easter. Ellen Waters announced that from now to Christmas, every Wednesday night will be Father's Shopping night at Berg's, and every Friday night will be Mother's Shopping night.

Well, "Roosters' Night" laid no egg, and I'm only puzzled by one remark made by Ellen in her introduction of this affair, "Tonight's show will cover just what you'd like to see." ??? Now I ask you, what did she mean by that?

Oh, well, as Corenne Smith of the Thunderbird Shop said, "I knew that if we stayed around long enough, we'd see real cheesecake in the Valley."

AIR-MAIL SPECIAL

Corenne, when I saw her, was still cackling about a recent Only-in-Carmel-Valley sort of incident:

VALLEY EQUESTRIANS TAKE AWARDS IN HORSE SHOW AT ETAP FARM

by Susan Stone

Several members of the Valley's two equestrian organizations--CV Trail and Saddle Club and CV Horsemen's Association--went (literally) over the hill last Sunday to enter the annual Horse Show in Corral De Tierra at Etap Farm, home of Assemblyman Alan Pattee.

Among those who brought home ribbons were: Susan Pullman and Chris Halle, 4th in Working Pairs; Bobby Stone, 4th in Trail Horse (8-11); Susan Pullman, 3rd in Horsemanship (15-18), 4th in Trail Horse (12-17). Judges in the Western Division were Mr. Victor Silva and Mrs. Andree Forzani. Ribbons in the Trail Horse Class (8-11) were given out by Mrs. Dorothy Pullman, in Barrel Racing by Mrs. Sue Stone. Pfc. Michael Page, a member of the U.S. Equestrian Team, who did a demonstration in Dressage in the Valley earlier this year, gave out the ribbons in the English Division, Working Hunters.

EXCITEMENT

Even without the unexpected, there is a special kind of excitement in a horse show you will feel as soon as you're bumping along the dirt road, following the horse trailers and vans to the show grounds. There, almost everywhere you look, you'll see horses--some ridden by seasoned show riders, others held by proud grandmothers, some acting frisky in the chill of the morning. Young riders scurry in every direction, looking for the lady with the numbers, looking at the entries that have been posted, trying to locate the piece of equipment they've misplaced which they are going to need for the next class. They listen for their name to be called over the loud speaker and hopes run high as they ride into the arena. The sport of kings has been taken over by kids and the entire family is probably wielding curry combs and dandy brushes!

There was much of the unexpected, however, for some Valley people at last weekend's show! Two young members had arranged in advance for a truck and trailer to haul their horses--but the truck's owner left on a trip with the keys in his pocket! One of the young riders decided to drop out but the other was not notified, and at 8:30 on the morning of the show was ready, with horse saddled and bridled, when he learned that transportation would not materialize.

Hasty phone calls netted no results, so the mother drove to the horse show grounds and found a cowboy willing to haul. The day seemed saved! During the show, however, the cowboy left with his trailer, leaving boy and horse stranded at Etap Farm! Again, hurried attempts to arrange a ride home for the tired steed were not successful, so the boy's father rode the horse to the top of the grade, where some generous people bedded it down for the night. Friends with truck and trailer picked it up the following day... Oh, it's all in a horse show!

Achievement Awards Competition of the National Council of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Statewide, only 70 students were so honored. In previous years, 99% of the award winners have entered the colleges of their choice. Approximately 80% of those applying for scholarships received financial aid.

Mike and Valerie were chosen last spring, by a committee of CHS English teachers. Each girl submitted 3 compositions and took standardized tests.

Mike, who plans to be a writer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherry. Valerie, who plans to major in biochemistry, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Whitworth.

An air of wild confusion reigned at WOLTER'S HACIENDA MARKET on Saturday morning. The BOY SCOUTS were setting up their Christmas tree display (Twelve had been ordered before they arrived!), and the 4-H Club was putting on their Car-Wash-For-a-Dollar campaign. A week ago my children had decided to "help" me by washing our car, and had used a whole container of AJAX in the process, most of which ended up stuck on the roof and sides in lumpy blobs. They had even "done" the windows, so driving was hazardous to say the least.

All in all it was quite a challenge, but about five eager pair of 4-H hands took over with a vengeance and did a beautiful job. In all fairness I felt they had to get $1.50 too... for services over and above the call of duty!

Speaking of WOLTERS.... they have some nice fresh local chestnuts for sale, which made me start thinking of what is to me the best part of CHRISTMAS dinner--chestnut stuffing in the turkey. Most cookbooks don't carry this recipe, so in case you'd like to try it, here goes:--

2 lbs. chestnuts
1 cup stock, water, or chicken broth
1 oz. butter
Large pinch salt
Pepper to taste

Cut tops off the chestnuts and boil (or roast) them for 20 minutes. Remove both inner and outer skin, put them into a stewpan, and add the stock (no more than will barely cover). Simmer them until they become dry and tender. Put through a fine mincer or grater, add the butter cut in small lumps, and salt and pepper to taste. Time: About 1 hour. I personally use this stuffing for the neck end only, and use bread stuffing for the body cavity. The amount in this recipe will do the neck end of two medium sized turkeys, or the other half can be frozen until such a time that later needs arise. It's really delicious!

The gaslines are being laid down by VALLEY HILLS and I would like P. G. & E. to know how much I appreciate that dashing character with the red waistcoat who smiles so charmingly as he waves his red flag. Actually, I had been sort of flattering myself that his attentions were for me alone, until I was shattered to find that quite a number of my female acquaintances had been similarly honored.

Add to the growing list of efficient working women in the Valley the name of NORMA HOLSTE on VIA PETRA! She already had her GIRL FRIDAY operation going full swing, and has now taken over the domestic management of TFA AGENCY. The car wash held at Wolter's Market was a success and we wish to thank the Wolters for letting us use their property and water. We also wish to thank the people who brought their cars in to be washed.

On December 15 at Wolter's Market in the Lower Valley, and at the Village Market in Carmel Valley Village, there will be 4-H Cookie Sale Booths. The booths will be open from 10:00 a. m. until 4:00 p. m. Orders for Christmas Cookies may be given now by calling Mrs. Vanetti at OL 9-2592, or Mrs. Powers at MA 4-3519. Decorated cookies and other special cookies will be available.

HELP NEEDED

The Carmelo 4-H Club badly needs an adult who will help in the first years Foods Project. There are eight or ten members who will be unable to continue in 4-H if we do not find someone who is willing to help. In a Community of this size, we should be able to find volunteers!

We are also interested in finding someone who will help with our Home Beautification Project. This includes landscaping, lawns, and flower planning, planting, and propagation.

Isn't there someone interested in helping young people stay on the road toward better adulthood and citizenship?

AN INTERVIEW WITH DEEDEE GREGORY

In view of all the discussion and articles written regarding the decreasing popularity of the term "Homemaker" in today's society, it is truly a joy to meet a young woman who loves and enjoys her role as a mother and housewife and still finds time to be active in civic activities. Such a one is Dierdre Gregory better known to her friends as "Dee Dee".

Dee Dee and George Gregory and their six children moved to Carmel Valley three years ago when George was sent to the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School as a student. The Gregorys purchased a lovely home with a perfectly heavenly view atop Holt Road and lost no time in becoming active in community work. After graduation, George, a Naval Aviator, was assigned to the Naval Air Facility in Monterey where he is presently stationed. Dee Dee and George, like so many of us, have fallen in love with the Valley and hope to make a permanent home here.

Dee Dee runs her charming home with such calmness and order that a visitor finds it difficult to realize what a truly busy mother she is. Two little Gregorys have joined the family circle since the move to the Valley, so with eight young children to care for, I wondered how Dee Dee manages to do all she does--I might add I interviewed Dee Dee at 9:30 in the morning in her spotless living room while enjoying a delicious cup of tea!

Dee Dee insists, "Having a large family isn't as difficult as it seems. The main object is to plan ahead and have organization." The older girls help with the cooking and the others have regular duties. All have learned to help with the babies.

For quite awhile George posted a Family Watch Bill on which was listed each child's duties for the week, such as mother's helper, dish washing, bedmaking, etc. This way each child knew what was expected of her. (This seems like a wonderful idea for any family, whether large or small!)

Dee Dee's home was originally in San Diego and George's in La Jolla. George's father is also a Naval Officer and George early acquired a love for the water and the out of doors. These loves led to his favorite hobbies--skin diving and hunting. He's an accomplished Riflesmith and makes custom rifles.

Dee Dee, who insisted modestly that she really had no accomplishments, sings, enjoys painting, has worked with La Jolla Players and The Old Globe Theatre and has modeled since she was 14!

Among the civic organizations in which George and Dee Dee are active workers are the Carmelo Parents Club, of which they are President, and the Civil Defense Organization. Dee Dee is a Board Member and was formerly Secretary. Thirteen year old Candy is a member of the Horsemen's Association. The family attend Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church in the Valley.

The roster of younger Gregorys are Candy in 7th grade; Shannon, 5th; Robin, 4th; Leslie, 2nd; Kimberly, lst; 4 year old George, Jr., 2 year old Zane, and 8 months old Molly.

Cooking for ten would seem a great challenge, but Dee Dee assured me it isn't as difficult as it seems--just use larger pans and cook twice as much. Knowing our readers would love to share a recipe, she graciously gave me the following for:

Beef Stroganoff

Cut with grain, round steak or any large piece of meat. Sprinkle with flour, salt, and pepper.

Brown 2 large onions in butter and remove from pan.

Brown meat. Replace onions. Add 1 can mushrooms, 2 T. Worcestershire sauce and seasoning. Add enough water to cover.

Cook beef one hour. 5 minutes before serving add 1 carton of sour cream. Serve on rice or noodles.

A belated Thanksgiving dinner was held last week at the Louis C. Moore home when their son and wife, the Louis S. Moores and their new baby, Louis Eduardo, arrived for a visit from their home in Roseville. The senior Moores drove their guests to San Francisco on Thursday.

Joe Miller of Ridgeway Rd. and George Burlison of Salinas were in Phoenix, Arizona, last week competing in the men's pairs section of the fall national championship bridge tournament held at the Westward Ho. The American Contract Bridge league sponsors the event.

It was the seventh birthday last week for Michelle Ann Holmes, who played hostess to the girls in her first grade class. Her guests enjoyed games, group singing, and refreshments that included a huge cake decorated with a Thanksgiving theme. Michelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Holmes of West Carmel Valley Road, entertained Christy Austuy, Jill Hayes, Jeanne Boehme, Albertina Zarazua, Susan Senger, Tere Schenck, Christine Bottaro, Leslie Read, and Vickie Van Hagen. (Audrey Casper, bitten by the flu bug, was unable to come.)

FROM THE BENCH

BY CARL BERNHARD

Monterey Peninsula College teams were in action all over the state this last weekend, with the football team in the Sequoia Bowl at Fresno and the basketball team at the Bakersfield tournament. The basketball team displayed first-game jitters and dropped a hard-fought game to host Bakersfield. The long, boring car rides didn't help much and neither did the referees. One player fouled out in the first quarter and all the rest played with so many fouls that it hampered the play. The officiating was just as bad for both sides and was no excuse for losing, but all the silly calls made the game boring. Bakersfield fans must be used to boring games because there was a very small turn-out even when their own team played.

On Friday, MPC played Chaffey JC and won by a handy margin, although the game was close until the end. This win puts MPC into the consolation finals. In another game, close to the end, Modesto took a one-point lead. MPC set up a path to all-tournament Charley White, who shot only to have the ball spin out of the bucket, and MPC lost 54-53.

FIRE AND AID CALLS

The Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department answered a call at 12:55 p. m. last Thursday, promptly extinguishing a fire in the back of a garbage truck parked behind the Flying A station in the Village. Noting that a great amount of combustible rubbish had been piled behind the station until quite recently (when it was removed by Dick Bash, new owner of the station), spectators remarked that it was indeed fortunate that the safety as well as the appearance of the locale had been thus improved.

The Volunteers also answered a first aid call during the week, transporting Mrs. Maria Dudley to the Community Hospital for treatment of a dislocated shoulder.

Notes from Hacienda Carmel

by Marjorie Weber

The two one-act plays put on for Hacienda residents by the Carmel Junior High School pupils on November 19 represented one of the highlights of our evening programs. In both of these plays, "Blue Stocking" and "Early Frost", the former a comedy of manners and the latter something of a mystery play, it was impressive to see how well these youngsters handled their parts. The performances revealed much dramatic talent among the young people, and at the same time showed how fortunate they were to have such a director and drama teacher as Miss Diana Hardy.

It is not known whether Hacienda residents are doing their Christmas shopping early, but it is certain they are starting their Christmas singing early. The usual Saturday evening organ concert on December 1 ushered in the Christmas season, and provided the happy occasion for the playing of Christmas music and the singing of Christmas carols, with Fred Lewis again at the console.

Once again we enjoyed a community supper on Monday, December 3, this time a "noodle nite", prepared under the direction of Marjorie Pittman, our cook-out chairman. These Monday suppers, when the dining room is closed, are a two-fold benefit to Hacienda residents. In the first place they are the occasion for much good fellowship, and secondly, in one way or another, they result in an addition to the organ fund.

To continue our reports on noteworthy pets as well as people and programs at the Hacienda, an amusing episode involved the youngest and most sprightly of the Pethericks' three cats. Ed Petherick, as already reported, is our indefatigable chairman of the overall activities committee, performing manifold services that contribute so much to our pleasure.

Peeper, the cat in question, is hardly past the kitten stage, and, as his name implies, his curiosity about this fascinating earth and its inhabitants is insatiable. His home adjoins that portion of the Hacienda that borders on property of the San Carlos ranch, where cattle are occasionally seen grazing. One day Peeper spied these huge, strange beasts on the other side of the stout wire fence. Feeling the need of closer inspection, he rose up, half on his hind legs, and advanced toward the fence to see better. What he saw disturbed him, so he arched his back and looked fierce. One of the steers then saw this small threatening animal, and whether or not he thought it a variety of bobcat, he obviously felt discretion to be the better part of valor, so he turned and started running in the opposite direction. All other steers in the field, seeing him running, joined the hasty retreat. Thus Peeper put to rout a whole herd of cattle!

CHRISTMAS TEA FOR CHAPEL GUILD

by Kay Carter

The December meeting of the Carmel Valley Chapel Guild will be a Christmas Tea next Wednesday, December 12, preceded by a short business meeting at 1:00 p. m. Officers will be elected to serve during the coming year. There will also be a report on the success of the Harvest Bazaar and Enchilada Luncheon.

Mrs. Kathleen Wood and her committee--Mrs. Elsie Thomas and Mrs. Inez Abbott--will serve tea in the Christmas tradition.

Following refreshments, Mrs. Thomas B. McKiernon has arranged to have Mrs. Else Cellarium Woolams and her daughter, Miss Lenore Woolams present a musical program. These ladies both have impressive backgrounds in their fields.

Mrs. Woolams was born in San Francisco and was a child prodigy at the age of 4. When 13 she went to the Vienna Conservatory and studied piano under such eminent teachers as Paderewski. She studied music in various European cities--Berlin, Stuttgart, London, Paris--and in 1907, at the age of 18 she made her singing debut as the lead in an opera at the Dresden Royal Opera.

She has given piano concerts all over the United States. She organized the Pacific San Francisco Opera for Youth and was a driving force in the Marin Symphony and the San Francisco Young People's Opera.

Miss Lenore Woolams is a successful sculptor and artist. Her five foot statue of Madonna and Child stands at the entrance to Grace Cathedral in San Francisco.

Despite a severe attack of polio which has kept her confined to a wheel chair for 23 years, she is busy establishing a studio in the Valley and is planning shortly a one-man showing of her sculptures, busts, portraits and other works.

Mrs. Woolams will play several selections of familiar classics and Miss Woolams will lead the group in carol singing. Guests are most welcome to attend the tea and enjoy the music, singing, and friendship of the Guild meeting.

Mrs. Marge Carter, president, and the other members, particularly wish to thank all friends of the Guild who contributed to the Bazaar and who participated to help make it a success.

SILVER SLIPPERS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Silver Slippers Square Dance group will hold its Christmas Party, December 10 in the Multipurpose Room of Tularcitos School. There will be a pot-luck dinner, dancing, and a gift exchange. Mrs. Jeanne Haller and Mrs. Jean Whiteman are co-hostesses. Members of the two beginners' classes and the South Coasters from Big Sur have been invited.

Mission Fields Memo

by Bonnie Holbrook

ALL WAS NOT GLITTER...

Saturday we traveled to the Valley Community Center to look in on the St. Dunstan's Christmas Bazaar. It was well worth the trip; the ladies really outdid themselves this year! All was not glitter and tinsel, either. The most animated things on display were the brown puppies in a wire enclosure by the enclosure by the entrance. The children on hand made this their focal point.

There were gift ideas in abundance, and many were very original and charming. We were there only an hour after the opening and already many of the things were gone. Congratulations to the ladies of St. Dunstans on a most successful bazaar!

HOLIDAY DECORATION SHOW

The American Federation of Arts will hold their second annual Holiday Decoration Show and Champagne Party on Friday night, Dec. 7, from 5-7 p. m. at the Mission Ranch. We had a sort of "sneak" preview of some of the Christmas table decorations that will be displayed and they are fabulous. This year the event is open to the public as well as AFA members and their guests. A $1 donation will be de rigeur at the door. If you haven't yet gotten the feeling of the Christmas spirit, this show should certainly put you in the mood for the Holidays!

CHRISTMAS 1963

This week it will be our privilege to escort an editor from Better Homes & Gardens Christmas Idea Book, on a tour of the Peninsula to look at gift ideas and decorations for the 1963 edition. We just wish that we had a week instead of only a day to show her the work of the many talented people in this area. We know that she will find many ideas to use next year.

For the Christmas you'll always remember

Make your gift a Hammond Organ!

Make this Christmas a memorable one for your family... with the gift of a Hammond Organ, "Music's Most Glorious Voice."

Singing strings, mellow woodwinds, and brilliant brasses—they're yours in an instant on the Hammond Organ. Mother can play the hymns she loves, Dad can play his old favorites and the classics, and the children will find a world of rich enjoyment in playing popular music. The Hammond Organ will furnish a lifetime of pleasure for the whole family.

And biggest surprise of all... you don't have to be rich to enjoy organ music in your home. It costs so little to own one.

- Costs less than you'd pay for many fine pianos. Terms are available.
- You can learn to play in less than a month. It's easier than you think.
- Compact... movable... simple to install. Never costs a penny for tuning.

HAMMOND ORGAN

Visit our showrooms any day to see, hear and play the Hammond Organ. Nine models from which you can choose.

Aunt of By Ford's) who lives in a very small town near Walnut Creek. During a recent visit to the Valley, she had partaken of you-know-what cheesecake and, naturally, had been smitten.

She was planning a dinner party and wished cheesecakes mailed to her for the occasion.

"She MUST mean fruitcake," was the Smiths' conclusion. The very idea made them uneasy. Just to be sure, they telephoned Mrs. Byington. No, she DID mean cheesecake. Cost was no object. There must be SOME way to get them delivered right side up. She would tell her postoffice people to be careful and Corenne should tell our postoffice people to be careful, and certainly everything would be all right.

The Smiths remained skeptical. They hated to goof up such an interesting order. Then Corenne had an inspiration. Duane Jones, Walnut Creek contractor, commutes daily to wife Arlene and Valley home--landing his own plane at the CV airport. Would he fly the cheesecake to Mrs. Byington? Anything to oblige! The dinner party must have been a great success, we're sure.
